Oceania Sun Lounges is part of Woodpecker Joinery, founded in 1994 by Christopher Waltho, a dedicated and talented craftsman.

From a farming background, an early memory was spending many hours helping his father lovingly craft a wooden greenhouse. His natural and creative flare for design became apparent during Chris' school days, as did his love for and interest in working with wood. Chris went on to study woodwork at NVQ level and gained a City and Guilds certificate. Along the way many things added to career development; serving an apprenticeship at the age of 17 with a local joinery company manufacturing doors, conservatories and windows, and in the engineering field acquiring knowledge of design. A lifelong dream had been to one day start his own business.

Since starting the business in 1994 a reputation for good quality products grew, as did a customer base. Chris began to develop a website and engineer a range of Western Red Cedar greenhouses and garden buildings. Orders flowed in and eventually it became too much work for one person. Realizing the need for help he approached his brother Louis, fiancée Louise, cousin Joe and Tom, a family friend. Long hours, hard work and dedication were called for - together we were a strong and determined team. The popularity of our products exceeded expectations; we were full of optimism and looking forward to the future. This led to the development of the Sun Lounge range of all season garden buildings.

We have exported our products to Ireland, France, Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Falkland Islands and even as far as Australia! We import all of our PEFC certificated cedar direct from Canada. We continue in the development of young people and training within the workplace with our established apprenticeship scheme which ensures our craftsman skills are passed on to the next generation.
